Funding My Own Destruction

That is what happens when you unwillingly get into such a mess.

NCR and their solicitors, Taylor, Joynson, Garrett (TJG) distorted the facts and achieved their Joint and Several judgement against Mike Buchanan and me. The judgement declared that between us we had to pay back to NCR all of the funds taken plus interest plus legal costs.

Mike Buchanan was responsible for taking approximately 94% of the money and I was responsible for taking approximately 6%.

However, Buchanan frittered away his illegal gains and paid back to NCR less that one half of what he'd taken. I paid back to NCR approximately seven times more than I'd taken. Further, NCR and TJG, together with the police took almost four years to track the money taken by Buchanan, whilst I simply paid the money as requested, therefore the legal fees were, for the most part spent in pursuing Buchanan.

Having settled with Buchanan in 2003 after he's paid back a fraction of what he'd taken, NCR and TJG pursued me relentlessly and destructively for the balance, which was made up purely of funds taken by Buchanan, interest on the money taken by Buchanan and legal fees in pursuing Buchanan.

Is it fair or just that I should have to pay such monies? I am paying their legal fees for being persecuted as well as my own legal fees.

When NCR achieved their objective of destroying my company, Postal Solutions Limited, I lost all of the money I had invested in order to protect my customers. This money consisted of my life savings and money borrowed from banks, credit cards and my family.

The financial institutions then came after me for repayment of the funds borrowed. Barclays Bank, Barclays Mortgages, Barclaycard and other banks all start to charge extortionate interest and charge me for taking legal and court action against me. In the case of Barclays Bank, they charged me 29.5% interest on the company overdraft and both Barclays Bank and Barclays Mortgages started unnecessary legal action in the courts at my cost, increasing my debts and simply crushing me.

I cannot even estimate the amounts of legal fees I have paid for others to pursue me but it must be tens of thousands of pounds. I am therefore funding my own destruction.
